Autumn 2017: Week 12

Weather-wise this has been a good week for discovering how waterproof some everyday materials are. There have been some surprises when we tested them in the 'labs'.

Now we know which will be the best materials for a roof in our DT project, to make a warm, dry stable. Reception have also been busy making a model of their house in the Creative area, adding different features both inside and out.

Next week

Our focus in English is retelling the Nativity story, with opportunities for exploring the characters through role play.

The stage will be going up ready for rehearsals next week.

Please keep practising the reading parts with your child.

In Maths, Reception will be learning about using words related to time - morning, afternoon, evening, night - as well as measuring time and reading o'clock times. If anyone has a favourite book about time we would love to share it at story time.
